The Belfast Visitor Guide is your passport to a vibrant, cultural and ever innovative city and presents another momentous year packed with festivals and fun.

Enjoy a Titanic city full of surprises and hidden gems. Soak up the lively atmosphere, stroll along fine Victorian streets, enjoy the range of world-class visitor attractions and indulge in a café, restaurant and entertainment scene that can rival any city in Europe. Most of all, we invite you to enjoy the experience of visiting a city that truly welcomes you.

This year's highlight will be the return of the Tall Ships, bringing the stunning spectacle of 80 vessels to our shoreline, where Belfast has been chosen as the starting point of the 2015 race. This adds to an already packed calendar of events taking place throughout the year, so whether it's comedy, maritime history, community arts, carnival parades, bluegrass music, song writing, European cinema, contemporary dance, the crème de la crème of local cuisine or avant-garde puppetry that's your thing, Belfast will have a suite of festivals to suit your tastes.

Less than an hour from the world famous Giant's Causeway and the Mountains of Mourne, Belfast is a gateway city to a land of legends. Whether you're here for the weekend or you have the opportunity to linger a little longer, a trip to Belfast this year promises memories to last a lifetime.

Alternative Ulster

Belfast has a rich musical heritage, giving birth to the likes of James Galway, Van Morrison, Stiff Little Fingers, and Therapy?, as well as being the hometown of the famous McPeake family. The city's musical legacy continues to thrive through a programme of diverse and popular annual festivals, the acclaimed Ulster Orchestra, traditional Irish music sessions as well as in Belfast's more modern music venues.

Belfast City Hall

This imposing Portland stone and copper-domed building was completed in 1906 as a symbol of Belfast's new city status granted by Queen Victoria. Uncover the history while exploring some of its finest features on a free 45 minute 'behind the scenes' tour. The splendour and grandeur displayed so proudly and created so magnificently by the craftsmen of Belfast in the interiors of City Hall, was reflected in the public rooms on board Titanic.

HISTORY & HERITAGE

Belfast has a unique and world famous history and heritage that is apparent in everything from our music festivals to our architecture and much more besides.

A city amply supplied with libraries, museums, universities, cathedrals, cobbled streets and red brick Victorian terraces, it's a must see destination for history fans.

Origins

Although settlement in the Belfast area dates back to the Bronze Age, its status as a major centre dates back to the 17th century. It was granted city status by Queen Victoria in 1888, and for a brief period in the early 20th century, Belfast overtook Dublin as the largest city in Ireland.

There are over 500,000 people living in the greater Belfast region today, of many ethnicities and religions, as the city enters its newest phase as a multi- cultural, cosmopolitan European city that still retains the friendliness of a village and the ease of access of a town.

Industrial Heritage

Some of the industries which allowed Belfast to flourish in the 19th century, such as rope making, ship building, and the artisan production of linen, tea and lemonade, are still very much in evidence today.

While it's hard to miss the innovative, rapidly developing Titanic Quarter on the site of one of Belfast's former shipyards, also worth looking out for is the Linen Quarter, just south of Belfast City Hall, where the world's great linen manufacturers once stood making the city's name so synonymous with linen production Belfast was known as Linenopolis. Some of the old mills can still be seen in the north and west of the city, including Conway Mill which now houses artists' studios, a museum, and a holistic healing centre. Visitors today can experience some of the artisan industry of modern Belfast at Lawrence Street Workshops or College Green Brewery, or sample local home grown and culinary produce from across Northern Ireland at St. George's Market at the weekends.

Political History

Belfast, of course, has a more recent political history, and there are a variety of mural tours that you can go on to see the street art around the city. While sections of the peace wall and some overtly paramilitary murals do still exist, the murals in Belfast are increasingly reflecting the City's history and culture in keeping with Northern Ireland's focus on peace, modernity and celebration of our shared future.

Libraries, museums, universities, cathedrals, cobbled streets and red brick Victorian terraces.

Alongside the Titanic and Olympic slipways, where these Harland and Wolff ships were launched, and Titanic's impressive Edwardian Dock & Pumphouse, sit spectacular new high tech developments for the city: the BMC campus, the Northern Ireland Science Park, and the internationally acclaimed film studio utilising Harland & Wolff's former paint hall, home to the Games of Thrones film set. The jewel in the Quarter's crown, however, is the state-of-the-art Titanic Belfast building which represents an architectural triumph for the city and is the world's largest Titanic visitor experience. Housed in an iconic, 6-floor, 9-gallery building, the 'hulls' of which are the exact height of Titanic when she sat on the slipways, Titanic Belfast is an unmissable experience which brings history to life in an unforgettable way and is completely unique to Belfast. It has welcomed a record number of visitors from all around the world and has garnered glowing reviews in international and local press.

It's not hard to see why: on entering, visitors will learn about the thriving industries and exciting design innovations that led to the creation of RMS Titanic - the largest and most luxurious ship in the world before passing through the original Harland & Wolff shipyard gates to continue their journey. Next stop is the Arrol Gantry - during the second half of 1908, two new giant slipways were built and the enormous Arrol Gantry was erected to prepare for the construction of Titanic and Olympic. the largest ships in the world. Visitors must ascend a replica of one of the huge pillars of the Arrol Gantry to embark on the Shipyard Ride - an electronic dark ride that uses special effects, animations and full-scale reconstructions to recreate the reality of shipbuilding in the early 1900s. There's not much time to catch your breath, as you're greeted with a panoramic eagle's eye view of the actual slipways on which both the Titanic and the Olympic once rested. The window is fitted with state-of-the-art glass containing electrodes that switch from the normal view to a superimposed image of the Titanic on the slipways. This extraordinary recreation offers a unique vision of how the ship would have appeared sitting on the slipway, giving you an intense and authentic perspective. Then it's all aboard to experience an eclectic range of exhibits, models. interactive databases and elaborate computer generated imagery which illustrate the ship's opulent interior, including exact replicas of the cabins, and journeys through the dining areas, the ship's engine rooms and working interiors. Pay tribute to the loss of this magnificent ship and the 1,500 men, women and children who lost their lives on her tragic maiden voyage, experience the aftermath, the inquiries and the sensational news reports of the time. A century later and two and a half miles below sea level, Titanic sits in her final resting place on the seabed. After many years of searching, advancements in deep sea exploration technology enabled Dr. Robert Ballard, an American marine scientist who had long been passionate about locating this extraordinary vessel, made his landmark discovery in 1985.

PUBLIC ART

There are so many ways to discover the Titanic experience throughout Belfast. The Model of Hull at Titanic's Dock & Pumphouse is a one third size scale model of Titanic's hull, partially built on the Arrol gantry. The giant Kit Sculpture, using scale replicas of Titanic's component parts, recreates the legendary liner beside the Abercorn Basin. Titanic, her sister ships Olympic and Britannic, and Nomadic are among eight famous Belfast-made ships represented by spectacular sculptured Masts that line the east side of Donegall Place. The Yardmen sculpture at Pitt Park in East Belfast pays tribute to the men who built some of the world's most famous ships.

'Titanic Beneath' is a new and special engagement with the ship as the visitor has unparalleled access to Dr. Ballard's high-definition footage from the seabed. Additionally, interactive learning pods are available to explore the details of his discovery. Finally, the Ocean Exploration Centre gives visitors interactive engagement with 21st Century technologies, including live links with Dr. Ballard's exploration vessel Nautilus and marine research departments around the world which helps us to understand how the oceans, seabed and earth's crust behave. The Ocean Exploration Centre provides continually updated information and images from below the waves and allows unrivalled access to the geography, marine biology, sea life, marine archaeology and mapping of coastal areas.

So whether you come for the architecture, the history and heritage or the unique visitor experience provided in Titanic Belfast, whether you're on a bus tour, walking tour or exploring the area by bike, a stop off at Titanic Quarter is a highly recommended highlight of any trip to Belfast.

TITANIC MEMORIAL GARDEN

Sited in the grounds of Belfast City Hall, Thane, Belfast's Titanic Memorial was created by renowned sculptor Thomas Brock, perhaps better known for the Imperial Memorial to Queen Victoria outside Buckingham Palace. Elegiac and grand, the statue makes a fitting centrepiece to a garden which is also home to a 9 metre long plinth, inscribed with the names of the 1,512 people who died on RMS Titanic.

TITANIC TIPS

Titanic's Dock & Pump-House

Discover the story behind Belfast's maritime magic by taking a tour at the site of the Thompson Dry-Dock and Pump-House, once the beating heart of Harland & Wolff during the construction of the great White Star Liners. Walk every square foot of this colossal and authentic landmark, absorbing 100 years of history with every step. Descend 44 feet to the bottom of the dock where Titanic last sat on dry ground. Enter by the Pump-House and discover the power house that was the beating heart of the shipyard.

SS Nomadic

The 104 year old tender ship which served Titanic on her maiden voyage, carrying first and second class passengers from the port of Cherbourg to Titanic. Originally built by Harland and Wolff in 1911, the Nomadic has been returned to

Belfast and is the last of the White Star line. Over the years, she has carried such people as John Jacob Astor, Margaret (Molly) Brown, Charlie Chaplin, Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton to name but a few, to such famous ships as Titanic, Oceanic, Olympic, Caronia, Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth. Now restored to her former glory, SS Nomadic is open to the public as a fascinating visitor attraction with an onboard museum, exhibition and education areas

TITANICa The Exhibition

Take a trip to the Ulster Folk and Transport Museum to explore Titanic and her world in an insightful exhibition. Discover how local enterprise and skills were combined to produce vessels of exceptional quality and design. Find out about life onboard through fascinating objects and personal stories that explore 1912.

On 31 March 1996, the Governor of Belfast's Crumlin Road Gaol walked out of the fortified prison and the heavy air-lock gates slammed shut for the final time. The closure ended a 150-year history of imprisonment, conflict and executions.

The County Gaol for Antrim, as it was originally known, was built in Belfast between 1843 and 1845 on a design by the renowned architect and engineer Charles Lanyon. The new building took over from the original county gaol on Antrim Street in Carrickfergus. Constructed from Black Basalt rock on a 10-acre site at the bottom of the Crumlin Road, it was modelled on London's Pentonville prison.

The nineteenth century Grade 'A' listed building, the Crumlin Road Gaol has undergone a significant restoration and its doors are now open once again, but this time, as a visitor attraction to the public.

Visitors can now take the tour and live life behind bars, in a history that begins when the Gaol opened in 1845, where you can find out firsthand how a Victorian prison evolved through history.

During its time in service 17 people were executed, numerous escapes were undertaken and many infamous inmates were detained in it. Learn about when women and children were held within its walls through to the political segregation of republican and loyalist prisoners and find out why the decision was taken to close the prison.

An estimated 25,000 people were imprisoned there and both history buffs and architecture fans will find the tour particularly fascinating.

A qualified guide assists visitors in exploring the prison and covers all aspects, including the underground tunnel linking the Crumlin Road Courthouse to the gaol, the Governors corridor and office, centre circle, C-wing, the historic holding cells, condemned mans cell and pinioning room before visiting the execution cell, where the majority of the 17 men were hanged, and finally the graveyard.

Part of the show's appeal and what has made it so popular with millions of fans are the mesmerising fantasy lands of Westeros which of course have been brought to life using Northern Ireland's rugged coastlines, historic castles and breathtaking countryside and forests. The dramatic scenery of the Causeway Coast and Glens, County Down, County Fermanagh and County Armagh forms the backdrop to much of the show's action. Fans can easily visit many of the locations where a favourite scene was filmed or walk in the footsteps of a much-loved character.

There are also some wonderful Game of Thrones inspired tours and family themed activities that have been created due to the popularity of the show, so you don't have to be a fan to join in the fun. You can dress up in costume and enjoy a day of archery with Clearsky Adventure or take a self-guided cycle tour of some of the shows film locations - there really is something for everyone to enjoy.

Some of the stunning filming locations not to be missed include: Castle Ward which may be more familiar as Winterfell, Tollymore Forest Park which will be recognisable as North of Winterfell, Downhill Beach familiar as the Dragonstone exterior and Murlough Bay in County Antrim aka Stormlands - but there are many more to discover.

*All tours are independently operated by each provider. They are not sponsored, endorsed or affiliated with HBO or anyone associated with Game of Thrones®.

Experience It*

Get the full experience and tour the Northern Ireland filming locations. Choose from a 3-day self-drive itinerary tour to a choice of guided coach tours. You can even step into Winterfell and experience archery in a recreated film set dressed in 'Stark family' costumes.

A canvas on every corner

The creation of political murals in Northern Ireland can be traced back as far as 1908. Since then a tradition has been cemented, with murals becoming not only an emotional and reactionary outlet for frustration and change, but a unique part of Northern Irish culture.

Artworks range from Republican and Loyalist statements of resentment or hope, to colourful celebrations of famous sons and daughters, including the legendary footballer George Best, detailed representations of characters from Belfast-born writer C.S. Lewis' The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe, and commemorative murals dedicated to Titanic and Belfast's shipbuilding legacy.

These pieces of public art often appearing on gable walls of residential homes and provide an insight into the culture and traditions of Northern Ireland. West, North and East Belfast have the political edge, with many murals in and around the Nationalist Falls Road bearing an Irish historical theme to underline its all-Ireland ethos while the Shankill and Newtownards Roads Loyalist murals reflect the communities' pro-British stance

The Peace Wall, which runs between the Falls and Shankill Roads, is now home to a mix of political murals, graffiti and commissioned public art. The International Wall on the Falls Road includes murals on political themes, environmental issues and features famous world figures and other global campaigns, from past and present.

Many tourists stop off during their sightseeing tours to see the walls, the murals and street art. Thousands upon thousands of messages are scrawled onto every inch of the Peace Wall from many overseas visitors. Some of the messages are just dates and names but all along the wall are short messages of peace and hope.

The murals of Belfast are a mustsee experience for visitors, once described by the Independent's Travel Editor, Simon Calder as "the world's greatest open-air gallery". Make sure to book a political sightseeing tour to get an insight into the history behind these pieces of community artwork.

The centre for Irish language and culture is in the west of the city and is characterised by a lively culture of music, debate, drama, great eateries and traditional pubs.

Already on the tourist trail, many visitors come to see the area's famous political murals and peace wall but there's plenty more to discover. Join one of the organised tours taking in two famous cemeteries, or head up Divis Mountain to discover some fantastic views, or visit Belfast's only protected bogland, 'The Bog Meadows Nature Reserve'.

But if you're more of a fan of the great indoors, then start with a visit to An Chultúrlann, the Quarter's flagship culture and arts centre containing an excellent restaurant, book and gift shop, theatre and gallery. Don't miss Clonard Monastery with its French Gothic style. Every inch of wall, ceiling, archway, alcove and window is adorned with pattern, carved, inlaid with gold, or set with intricate mosaic tiling.

Highlights

The Gaeltacht Quarter has a unique programme of entertainment which offers something for everyone whether it's traditional music, dance and drama every night of the week. Féile an Phobail, Europe's biggest community festival, with its Spring and August Festivals are particular highlights and provides a great opportunity to tap into the rhythms which define this vibrant and creative part of the city.

With monthly festivals celebrating everything from the best of international music and theatre, literature, local maritime heritage and arts festivals geared specifically towards kids, there has never been a better time to visit Belfast and enjoy the rich cultural life that is a vibrant part of life in the city.

Lyric Theatre

The Lyric is the only full-time producing theatre in Northern Ireland and with its two performance spaces and perennially full programme, there's always a production worth seeing no matter when you visit. The new theatre with its breathtaking views of the River Lagan and its gourmet café make the venue well worth a visit on its own merits.

Described by the Daily Telegraph's architecture critic Ellis Woodman as one of the "best British buildings built this century", the stunning £18m building has won a series of awards for its architecture in recent months.

Ulster Museum

An inspiring piece of modern architecture set in the beautiful Botanic Gardens, the Ulster Museum is the largest museum in Northern Ireland and is free to visit. Its unparalleled collection of Irish art is well worth seeing.

Grand Opera House

Since opening its doors in 1895, the Grand Opera House, designed by prolific theatrical architect Frank Matcham, has delivered an unrivalled programme of entertainment, playing host to some of the greatest names in theatre and music and bringing London's West End into the heart of Belfast. Having undergone a striking, extensive renovation in 2006, with the notable addition of the Baby Grand - which hosts smaller musical, dramatic and comedy performances.

For Kids

Arts and Culture are for kids too and Belfast makes sure to welcome its younger visitors with a fantastic arts programme for children. For particular highlights, check out the Belfast Children's Festival in March for eight fun-filled days for children up to 14 years and An Draoícht at Halloween for drama, arts and crafts. puppet shows, multimedia workshops and much more. Not forgetting Cinemagic's International Film & Television Festival for Young People each November.

The MAC

The MAC (Metropolitan Arts Centre) is home to music, theatre, dance and visual art, bringing you the very best of local and international talent under one roof. A particular highlight is The Permanent Present artwork by Mark Garry, a graceful spectrum of light made up of hundreds of lines of colour that travels through the atrium space, symbolising the hopes, aspirations and ambitions of young people in the city.

Crescent Arts Centre

Renowned for its classes, workshops, exhibitions and events held throughout the year, the multipurpose Crescent Arts Centre has state of the art dance, performance, art and photography studios as well as a café. One of the most iconic listed buildings in the Queen's Quarter, the centre continues to be a hub of cultural and arts activity in the city.

Galleries

Belfast has an impressive array of gallery space, displaying everything from the most contemporary visual art in the Golden Thread Gallery to traditional printmaking techniques showcased in the Belfast Print Workshop and the edgiest and freshest modern art in The MAC. The Naughton Gallery at Queen's features a rolling programme of works from the University's own collection, touring exhibitions and shows by local and international artists, and the Royal Ulster Academy's Annual Exhibition showcases work by emerging and established artists to celebrate, enrich and expand contemporary approaches to the visual arts.

Late Night Art

Want to pack in as many galleries and as many new exhibitions as you possibly can? Visit the city on the first Thursday of the month to take the Late Night Art tour when most of Belfast's galleries stay open longer and have new shows just beginning.

QUARTER

The leafy area spread around Queen's University in the south of the city, the Queen's Quarter is home to a treasure trove of eclectic shops, boutiques, cafes, bars, galleries, live entertainment venues, the beautiful Botanic Gardens and the Ulster Museum.

Recommended stop offs include the Naughton Gallery in Queen's University for a spot of visual culture, taking in the exhibitions and enjoying the architecture of the Ulster Museum. Break up the day with a coffee and scone in Belfast gourmet coffee chain Clements with outposts on Botanic Avenue, the Stranmillis Road and in the Queen's Student's Union, While away an afternoon exploring vintage clothes and second-hand bookshops in search of a must-have classic, and finish your visit off with a stroll around the elegant Victorian Palm House in Botanic Gardens or by taking in an art-house movie at the Queen's Film Theatre, or catch the latest live theatre performance at Northern Ireland's only full-time producing and award-winning Lyric Theatre.

Highlights

As a centre for culture and learning, there's plenty to explore in the Queen's Quarter, so watch out for murals, sculptures and statues around the area. It's also a great area for live music, featuring venues like the Mandela Hall, Speakeasy and Empire Music Hall, acoustic nights in local cafes and bookshops, the Sonic Arts Research Centre at Queen's and the Crescent Arts Centre tailored suits and glitzy jewellery as far as the eye can see.

Meanwhile, in the city centre, vintage stores and specialist retailers from Miss Moran's Tobacco Shop to Joseph Braddell & Sons field sports emporium sit alongside independent record shops, second hand book treasure troves and a wealth of high street chains and department stores. There's sportwear galore at SS Moore's, a Pandora's box of treats to be explored at Avoca and beautifully crafted jewellery at Steenson's and Lunn's.

SMITHFIELD AND UNION

The heart of old Belfast, home to the city's oldest buildings, its newspapers, library and Smithfield market. Though newly christened, Smithfield and Union has existed for generations. Always beating to a different rhythm than its neighbouring counterparts, Smithfield and Union celebrates the individual, the different, the separate, the idiosyncratic and the eclectic.

At the end of Winetavern Street you'll find yourself facing Smithfield Market, featuring an array of interesting oddities that no High Street would entertain; toy museum, Filipino deli, army surplus, seamstress, boxing regalia, Caribbean foodstore, organic growing equipment, exotic spiders, scorpions and reptiles.

Gastro Delights

Belfast is perfect for foodies and we've got everything you need to discover your very own gourmet Garden of Eden from artisan bakeries, to traditional apple pies and garden parties galore throughout the summer months.

Northern Ireland is justifiably proud of its agricultural traditions and the heritage cuisine the region is famed for, from its cheeses to organic meats, apple orchards and exquisite chocolatiers. Whatever your taste in tipple, the region has it covered, from locally brewed stouts, ales and ciders to award winning whiskey and gin or a much coveted cup of tea from connoisseur's choice Suki Tea. These all make fantastic souvenirs so don't miss the chance to sample a huge range of local produce under one roof at the lively, colourful St. George's Market on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

The finest in local cuisine can be experienced in style at Deanes on Howard Street, The Great Room Restaurant in the Cathedral Quarter, James Street South off Bedford Street, Shu on the Lisburn Road and OX on Oxford Street. Other fantastic local eateries include a selection of 8 unique restaurants in the beautiful Italian style piazza of Saint Anne's Square - a true example of Northern Ireland's varied first-class restaurant scene. The city's diverse cultural traditions are showcased in our restaurants, with the very best of Chinese, Indian, Bangladeshi, Italian and Japanese food all well represented, so there's plenty to choose from.

Belfast also has a café culture which buzzes with more than just over-exposure to caffeine. Some of the best places for a coffee, snack, a bit of people watching and the occasional singer songwriter night include the Black Box Café in the Cathedral Quarter and Common Grounds in the Queen's Quarter.

You are spoilt for choice with the abundance of coffee shops in the city centre but worth a stop are local chain Clements and the deli in Robinson & Cleaver.

Fine Dining

Seafood Sensation

Belfast, being a port city, has long had a love affair with seafood which continues to be reflected in the city's finest culinary establishments today. Whether you treat yourself to dinner at Mourne Seafood Bar, Tedfords, Deanes Seafood Bar, Cutter's Wharf, Saltv Dog Bistro or Sonoma, it's difficult to escape the culinary inspiration of the city's watery surroundings.

Belfast Restaurant Week

The city's main annual food festival runs in early October Belfast Restaurant Week offers a delicious and comprehensive insight into Belfast's acclaimed eating scene. Throughout the week our diverse eateries host special events and showcase special menus using the finest of local produce.

Taking its name from St. Anne's Cathedral, the Cathedral Quarter is packed full of fascinating architecture, ranging from distinguished banks and public buildings, to cosy pubs and trendy warehouse restaurants.

The Cathedral Quarter contrasts the old with the new, with St. Anne's Square, home to the Metropolitan Arts Centre (MAC) and welcoming eateries alongside some of the oldest streets in Belfast, dating back to the seventeenth century. But it's not all history - we promise you won't be stuck to find something to do when you visit this Quarter! Take the time to visit the Oh Yeah Music Centre, where you can catch a live gig or see an exhibition or call into the Belfast Circus School, the epicentre of the annual Festival of Fools, which brings the best of International Street Performance to the city. Each year visitors to this quarter can enjoy the winter warming Out to Lunch Festival in January, Cathedral Quarter Arts Festival in May, Belsonic in August and Culture Night in September. So there's never a dull moment!

Highlights

Cotton Court is another boutique open-air performance space in the area, which features in Belfast's Summer Sundays programme, great for families to enjoy.

Whether you're lo-fi or hi-fidelity, rockabilly or grime, jazz or folk, open air or orchestral, the city resonates to an ever-changing soundtrack of live music and you're guaranteed to find something musical to enjoy on your visit here, whether it be a great vintage record fair to browse, a standing room only gig to attend or a classical evening at the opera.

Belfast has been the birthplace, spiritual home, inspiration and venue extraordinaire for musicians past and present in every genre, all around the world. 1950's chart-storming songstress Ruby Murray was born and raised on the city's Donegall Road, while iconic blues rock guitarist Gary Moore was from east Belfast. The city has also been memorialised in song down the decades, from recent pop hits such as Snow Patrol's 'Take Back the City' to classic punk anthem 'Alternative Ulster' by Stiff Little Fingers.

Belfast Music Tour

To really get to the history behind the City's musical legacy, don't miss out on the Belfast Music Tour which will take you onto the streets and behind the scenes of Belfast's stars, songs and stories.

Traditional Sessions

On any given night in Belfast you can find open mic, karaoke, classical recitals and rock, pop and jazz concerts, but the city also holds true to its musical roots with a wide variety of traditional music sessions across the city where you'll find chat, cheer and 'craic agus ceol' aplenty. Some of the best venues to take in some trad include: Hatfield House in the south of the city, Robinson's Saloon Bar on Great Victoria Street. Cultúrlann in the Gaeltacht Quarter, the John Hewitt in Cathedral Quarter and the Fountain Bar in the city centre.

Belfast's musical legacy is still alive and kicking today, with a stellar line up of international acts and up and coming local talent playing at venues across the city on a nightly basis. Belfast is also a city of festivals, from Out to Lunch in January, Feile an Earraigh in March, Cathedral Quarter Arts Festival in May, Belsonic in August and the Ulster Bank Belfast Festival at Queens in October to name just a few. Belfast's festivals have welcomed the likes of Foo Fighters, Florence + The Machine, Paramore, You Me At Six, Tom Jones, David Guetta, Ladysmith Black Mambazo, Ray Davies and Orquesta Buena Vista Social Club, Laura Marling, Fleet

Foxes, Warpaint, John Grant, Hope Sandoval, Damien Dempsey and Dame Kiri Te Kanawa, over the last couple of years in outdoor gigs, packed houses, intimate backroom acoustic sets and beautiful concert halls.

The city has plenty of venues worth seeing in their own right, from the majestic Ulster Hall and the elegant Belfast Waterfront with its state-of-the-art auditorium, to The Empire, a glam rock music hall in a former church on Botanic Avenue. Other highlights include traditional sessions in the Duke of York in the City's Cathedral Quarter, a pub filled with old printers' paraphernalia or jazz in the sumptuously decadent Bert's Jazz Bar at the Merchant Hotel.

NIGHT LIFE

There's plenty of reasons to get out and about when the sun goes down, from theatres to restaurants, gigs to poetry readings, pubs to clubs, traditional sessions to stand-up comedy.

One of Belfast's most popular areas for evening entertainment is the Cathedral Quarter, where you'll find everything from live music to local theatre, classy cocktails to micro beers, smoky jazz to traditional Irish music and gourmet cuisine to tapas on the go.

Another unmissable stop off on your night out in Belfast is from the city centre up to the university area in Queens Quarter. Lined with nightclubs, restaurants, cafes and cinemas, including the Empire Music Hall for live gigs and stand up comedy, this area continues to attract people from miles around in search of a great night out.

Meanwhile, the Odyssey Complex offers cutting edge music and night clubs, restaurants, family entertainment and the Odyssey Arena which attracts world class acts from around the world. Or why not wander a bit further from the beaten trail, and take in some craic and culture up in An Chultúrlann in the heart of West Belfast's Gaeltacht Quarter, Belfast has everything you need in the way of evening entertainment, whether it's ground breaking golf simulators, karaoke, a lively GLBT scene or classical concerts in the grand surroundings of the Ulster Hall.

Your round or mine?

Mixology: Book in for a cocktail masterclass at the Fitzwilliam Hotel, a Sherry Cobbler at the Bar in The Merchant or kick things off with a Breakfast Martini in The Apartment - the choice is yours!

Staying Snug: Find a seat in a traditional snug and soak up the atmosphere. Some of our favourites include The Crown on Great Victoria Street, Bittles Bar on Upper Church Lane and Whites Tavern in Winecellar Entry.

Irish Open May 28-31

The European Tour confirmed that the Irish Open will return to Northern Ireland in 2015, with Royal County Down Golf Club hosting the event from May 28-31, 2015. It will be the first time in 76 years that the Irish Open has been played at the world famous links in Newcastle, Co. Down, while Northern Ireland hosts the event for only the second time in the last 60 years, following the hugely successful 2012 Irish Open at Royal Portrush.

Northern Ireland has found a new. super-star status in the world of golf during the past couple of years, aided by the trio of golf champions that our small country has produced. Rory McIlrov, Graeme McDowell and Darren Clarke have become not only ambassadors for the game of golf, but ambassadors for their homeland. Not only does Northern Ireland produce golf champions, it also boasts an enviable collection of some of the world's very best golf courses. Friendly and informal, challenging and invigorating, Northern Ireland's golf courses are increasingly being described as a superb destination for both the serious and casual golfer.

This passion began when Royal Belfast laid down a golf course in 1881, reputed to be the oldest in Ireland. The game quickly caught on and today Northern Ireland can boast over ninety courses in what is a very small and compact area. Belfast itself boasts fourteen courses and golf centres within the city's boundary, making it a true golfer's paradise. You can enjoy the stunning 18 hole parkland courses of Royal Belfast, Shandon, Malone and Belvoir Park Golf Clubs just a few minutes drive from the city centre. Meanwhile the world-renowned links courses of Royal County Down and Royal Portrush are only an hour's drive away.

So come and walk the hallowed ground of our great golfing giants, whether you're seeking championship courses, dramatically scenic settings, a slice of history, links or parkland, or simply idyllic tranquillity, Belfast and Northern Ireland has it all - every course is a unique gem.

SPORT & ACTIVITIES

Belfast offers many different opportunities to stay active from zip-wiring to urban sports, hillwalking to golf, watersports to mountain biking.

Whether you enjoy a night at the rugby, a Belfast Giant's ice hockey game, a soccer match or fancy checking out a fast-paced gaelic football or hurling match, Belfast is a great city for sports fans, with ample opportunities for spectating.

Prefer life on two wheels rather than two feet? Belfast is very bike friendly, with riverside cycle paths, easy to arrange bike hire and bike tours starting at both Queens Quarter and Smithfield and Union. Up for a challenge? Sign up to the annual Belfast City Marathon and take to the streets with over 20,000 participants from all around the world.

Or see the city from up high, with a walk up Black Mountain or the iconic Cave Hill, stopping to enjoy not just the views but the ancient standing stones, cairns and mysterious earth rings that form part of the dramatic backdrop to the city. Tours, routes and further information available from the Belfast Hills Partnership.

Adventure Sports

Inject some adrenaline into your city break with some high octane adventure sports. Whether you're jumping off cliffs with Clearsky Adventure Centre, trying Todd's Leap's Drop Zone, karting at Eddie Irvine Sports, BMXing at t13 Urban Sports Academy, experiencing cable wakeboarding at the stern of the famous Titanic Slipways, climbing to dizzy heights at Ireland's only Tree Top High Wire Adventure Course or letting it rip with some airsoft action at Trigger Happy Fun, there's nowhere quite like Belfast for a bit of action to whet your appetite.

Belfast is a great holiday destination for those with more than luggage in tow! There's plenty of entertaining attractions for the young (and the young at heart) around the city.

Belfast's Odyssey Pavilion is sure to be a highlight for the younger visitor, with a bowling alley, gaming area, multiplex cinema, W5 interactive science museum, Belfast Giants ice hockey games, hamburgers and ice cream...all under one roof!

Sample the sweet treats at the city's very own Aunt Sandra's Candy Factory where seeing is believing as you watch the sweets being made! Plus, adults and kids alike can learn about the city's maritime heritage as The Belfast Barge and Titanic Belfast are both family-friendly.

Ascend the city's Cave Hill for activities from tots to teens in Cave Hill Adventurous Playground, with its cradle swings, slides, spring rockers, spectacular space net and aerial runway, or go really wild at Belfast Zoo with spectacular wildlife, fun feeding times and trails to follow, as well as panoramic views across Belfast. Or get up close and cuddling with Streamvale Farm's little animals, where you can enjoy tasty milkshakes, traybakes and lunches too.

Or if prehistoric beasts are of more interest to your young dinosaur hunter, head over to the Ulster Museum in Queen's Quarter, with its interactive learning zones full of great activities to keep the kids happy and its stylish café for mums and dads to re-fuel!

Venture out of the city to enjoy a wealth of National Trust properties with glorious gardens to explore and plenty of family events during the year. Make a splash at Bangor's Aurora Aquatic & Leisure Complex, Lisburn's Lagan Valley LeisurePlex or the Valley Leisure Centre in Newtownabbey, or they can get their skates on at Dundonald Ice Bowl. Visit the Ulster Folk and Transport Museum, which has one of the best rail galleries in Europe and also allows visitors to experience what life would have been like 100 years ago in its outdoor folk museum. But for the authentic rail experience take a steam train excursion. All little train conductors will relish the chance to get onboard. See the Railway Preservation Society of Ireland website to find out more.

Family event highlights include St Patrick's Carnival Parade and Belfast's Children's Festival in March, Orangefest in July, the Monster Mash Halloween spectacular in October and the Christmas Lights switch-on in November.

For more information go online and discover what's happening in Belfast.

Organised by Sail Training International, The Tall Ships Races will be welcomed by the annual Lidl Belfast Titanic Maritime Festival from 2 to 5 July.

This is the third time that Belfast has hosted the races, having previously welcomed the ships in 1991 and 2009. And like the Giro, Belfast has been chosen to be the starting point of the race where so many of the vessels will arrive en masse, creating a stunning spectacle along our shoreline. The ships will then continue to Ålesund and Kristiansand (in Norway) and finish off in the Danish port, Aalborg.

80 vessels are expected to grace our shores - twice as many as in 2009. The event hopes to attract many thousands of people over the four day period, and the arrival and departure of these magnificent ships can be seen from vantage points along Belfast Lough and the County Antrim coast.

A four-day maritime festival will take place in the Belfast Harbour and the Titanic Quarter area where the ships will dock before they embark on their journey towards Scandanavia.

Host port sponsor, Lidl NI will have an array of family-friendly activities on offer as well as opportunity to sample and purchase some of their best produce. There will plenty of other family fun, with fairgrounds and lots of free activities including musical performances, street theatre, nautical fun and games and fireworks! Visitors will also be able to enjoy a wide variety of food and drink at the continental markets and international bars.

There will of course be an opportunity to board and explore the Tall Ships and learn more about Belfast's unique maritime history. Recent developments in Titanic Quarter and Belfast Harbour will make for an even bigger and better celebration in 2015! And the addition of Titanic Belfast to our skyline will create a dramatic backdrop for the stunning collection of visiting vessels.

The City of Lisburn is one of Northern Ireland's newest cities but you can step back in time as you wander through the Historic Ouarter in the City Centre, an attractive 18th Century streetscape which has remained largely unchanged to the present day.

Start your walk in the recently restored Castle Gardens then pay a visit to the award winning Irish Linen Centre & Lisburn Museum, which tells the story of the Irish Linen industry with skilled demonstrations of hand spinning and handloom weaving and a display of historic artefacts including linen. Discover the magic of brewing by visiting Ireland's oldest independent brewery, in the 19th century courtyard of Hilden House, also home of the superb Tap Room Restaurant.

Spend an afternoon exploring the picturesque villages of Hillsborough and Moira with their spectacular floral displays and unusual antique, craft and speciality shops. Don't miss a house and garden tour of the stunning Hillsborough Castle

Shopping in Lisburn offers a memorable experience. Whether you are looking for large high street names or small intimate shops, Lisburn is a great place to shop. There's also a wide range of entertainment on offer with the very best of theatre, live music up close and personal or cutting edge dance at the Island Arts Centre and family entertainment at its best at Lisburn Leisure Park. Sporting enthusiasts won't be disappointed with a thrilling night at Drumbo Park Grevhound Stadium or one of the many annual race meetings at Down Royal Race Course.

ANTRIM & NEWTOWNABBEY

The perfect starting point or journey's end?

Newtownabbey is the gateway to one of the world's greatest road journeys, the Causeway Coastal Route. Situated on the idyllic shoreline of Belfast Lough, it provides the perfect stopping off point for visitors preparing to steer a path through this land of myth and majestic beauty. Antrim is the gateway to Lough Neagh, the largest fresh water lake in the British Isles, captivating visitors with its tranquil atmosphere and Christian heritage.

With stunning scenery and a palpable sense of history, both Antrim and Newtownabbey offer visitors a fascinating blend of old and new. Nowhere exemplifies this more than the two stunning Lough Shore Parks in Antrim and Jordanstown, both offering fantastic five star caravan and camping facilities complementing the area's natural resources. Let the stresses of the world drift away as you wander along walkways with panoramic views of Belfast Lough or Lough Neagh, stop for a relaxing picnic by the water's edge, or sample culinary delights in the on-site restaurants.

Transport yourself back in time to experience rural Ulster life at Sentry Hill or visit Museum At The Mill which tells the story of those who worked there from the 1800's up to 1995. The White House is a 'plantation bawn' which dates back to the 16th century and features an exhibition on the Williamite and Jacobite wars. At Patterson's Spade Mill, the last working water-driven spade mill in the British Isles, a guided tour lets visitors sample the unique sights, sounds and smells of the Industrial Revolution or visit the Jewel in Antrim's crown. Antrim Castle Gardens, which have been transformed into a unique living museum, containing over four centuries of culture and heritage. Continue your heritage tour at the historic Old Courthouse and Poque's Entry Historical Cottage in Antrim town and be amazed at the history surrounding Antrim Round Tower, built around the 10th century and one of the finest of its kind in Ireland.

Antrim and Newtownabbey have a myriad of attractions, from the manicured greens of its local golf courses, to top class fishing and horse riding. And when it comes to dining and shopping, well the visitor is positively spoiled for choice. Whether you're starting out on that personal odyssey along the Causeway Coastal Route or exploring Lough Neagh, or looking to finish your journey with a flourish, why not explore what Antrim and Newtownabbey have to offer? Just be warned - you might find it hard to leave!

While there's plenty to keep you entertained in Belfast, it's also worth keeping in mind that the city makes a great base for exploring the rest of Northern Ireland. Just twenty minutes from Belfast visitors can discover pristine seafronts, country parks, boutique village shopping and plenty of places to enjoy the gourmet gastro-pub or country house experience.

County Antrim's Causeway
Coastal Route runs north from Larne, and is the gateway to the Nine Glens of Antrim with Glenariff Forest Park at its heart. On the northern coast you'll find the Giant's Causeway, the only world heritage site in Northern Ireland and recently named in Tripadvisor's Top 10 dramatic landscapes in the world. The Giant's Causeway's new state-of-the-art visitor centre, featuring new exhibition space, a cafe, shops and even a grass roof.

Don't miss the oldest licensed distillery in the world; Bushmills and the Carrick-a-Rede rope bridge.

Or to the northwest, it's a short trip by train or bus to Derry-Londonderry, which was last years UK City of Culture. There's plenty to see in the historical walled city, with its lively cultural scene, impressive architecture, carnivals, festivals and visitor attractions.

And don't miss out on the chance to go island hopping in the unspoiled Fermanagh Lakelands, or to pay a visit to Armagh, stunning National Trust properties, unmatched Georgian architecture and two Saint Patrick's Cathedrals.

TRAVEL TIPS

Communications

The international code for Northern Ireland is 00 44 28. The number for emergency services is 999. This will connect you to the fire brigade, police, ambulance, lifeboat and mountain rescue services.

Internet and Wi-Fi access is widely available throughout the city. Belfast is one of 10 UK cities set to become a Super-connected City by 2015. Plans include city wide access to high speed ultrafast broadband as well as widespread WiFi.

Most post offices are open Monday to Friday 9am to 5.30pm and some are also open on Saturday mornings. The main post office is located on Bridge Street in the city centre.

Banking

Most banks are open Monday - Friday 9am to 5pm. All major credit cards are widely accepted in the city and some shops will accept euro. There are foreign exchange facilities in the Visit Belfast Welcome Centre and various retail outlets across the city.

Tipping

Most restaurants add a discretionary service charge to the bill for parties of six people or more. If this charge is added to your bill, tipping is not necessary. If a service charge is not included, a discretionary tip of 10-15% is customary.

Shopping

Many shops in the city centre follow these opening hours: Monday - Wednesday: 9am-6pm Thursday: 9am-9pm Friday & Saturday: 9am-6pm Sunday 1pm-6pm Shopping centres may have extended opening hours midweek.

Stay Safe

Belfast is one of the safest cities in Europe with an extremely low crime rate. However, it is always wise to be sensible and to follow good advice when exploring a new destination. There are a number of Emergency Contact Points in the city which are monitored by the police.

Smoking

Belfast has been a smoke free city since 2006. It is against the law to smoke in bars, restaurants, cafés, hotels, offices, factories and other places of work. The majority of hotels in Belfast no longer offer smoking rooms - please check this when booking your accommodation. Many bars, clubs and restaurants have installed outdoor smoking areas.
